MAINTENANCE REPAIR

The maintenance and repair processes of the boats, where the blue cruise adventurers will enrich their own world by discovering brand new worlds, enjoy nature, experience peace, excitement and fun, are at least as important as the production stages.

The quality of companies that produce or charter yachts is not only because they produce luxury and high quality yachts; It is also related to the fact that they regularly maintain and repair the yachts they produce or rent and sell to their customers.

We can collect yacht maintenance and repair operations in five main categories. The main yacht maintenance and repair operations that can be included under the headings of Decoration, Paint / Varnish, Electrical, Plumbing and mechanics are as follows:

Complete Refit

Interior Decoration Works
Design Works

Paint Applications

Antifouling Paint

Winter Maintenance

Composite Works

Teak and Woodworks

Chrome Works

Engine and Mechanical Works

Hydraulics, Plumbing

Electrical and Electronics

In fact, as in all jobs, a professional team should be working in yacht maintenance and repair operations.

Every stage, from repairing and strengthening the engines of yachts to renewing the paint of the yacht, is also important. The reliability of yachts that are not repaired and maintained will decrease as well as the pleasure of sailing on a neglected yacht.

Every material that lives on the sea and comes into contact with the sea has a certain life span and durability. In order for the maintenance and repair processes to proceed smoothly and not to waste money unnecessarily, companies that have a good command of all the process stages, know the materials and have high experience should be preferred. Performing yacht maintenance and repair operations on a regular basis prevents encountering bad surprises at unexpected times. While the blue voyage enthusiasts are getting away from the stress of daily life and are excitedly on their way to their dreams, if they experience any technical or other problems with the boat on this voyage, the situation will have unpleasant consequences for both the company and the customers.

For these processes, where different maintenance and repair techniques are used for summer and winter seasons, a contract should be made with the companies regarding the delivery date.

In summary, yacht maintenance and repair operations are as important as production stages.

SERVICES

WASHING SERVICE

Boat Cleaning and Maintenance

In order to achieve the most effective results, you should clean your boat before applying any maintenance to your boat.

General cleaning

Start cleaning using boat shampoo and water. Using regular soap will cause the surface of your boat to oxidize quickly. That's why we recommend using the Doodlebug System.

Hull and Deck Cleaning

After washing your boat, it is necessary to remove the moss, dirt and stains left on the deck from surfaces such as gelcoat, metal, paint and fiberglass.

Choosing the Right Diaper

Thanks to their microfiber and knit structure, which hold dust, water and oil effectively. These cloths remove solvent, dust and abrasive residues, polish and fingerprints, leaving a completely clean surface.

BOAT INSURANCE

Regardless of its monetary value, a boat is an important investment for its owner, both financially and morally. Many boat owners feel the need to cover their investments with an insurance policy in order to have both the security against possible financial losses and the peace of mind that this will bring. While you are insuring your boat for the first time or renewing your current policy, you will look for more favorable conditions, accept the damages caused by the reasons covered by the scope and compensate you in a short time without tiring you, and try to find an insurance company that has less bureaucracy and approaches in good faith unless the customer proves otherwise.

It can direct you to get insurance for your boat under the most suitable conditions by contacting insurance companies that have these features and are specialized in boat insurance; We can track your policy renewals, claims and other transactions on your behalf.
